

I am extremely concerned that the FCC is considering the replacement of my favorite radio station, Airl KLRD 90.1, with an LPFM station. I listen to Airl radio daily, and not only does it provide good quality music, but also it broadcasts uplifting messages. Airl actively seeks to encourage its audience, and I know from personal experience that this radio station has prevented suicides, provided help for the homeless community, and ministered to orphans in Cambodia. Clearly, Airl is a unique radio station with an active role in the community. It is listener supported and extremely important to those who depend on it. Please do not displace it with some other station. No matter how good its replacement may be, it will never top the quality, nor fulfill the important place, that Airl has within the community.
